

Privacy Policy

Effective date: [January 18th, 2024]

CORE Foundation (“Foundation”, “we”, “us”, “our”) operates this website and any other related website, app, or services that link to this Privacy Policy (“Policy”). The Foundation respects your privacy and is committed to protecting it through our compliance with this policy. This Policy informs you of our policies regarding the collection, use and disclosure of personal information when you use our websites, mobile applications, social media sites and handles, and emails we send (collectively our “Services”). By using the Service, you agree to the collection and use of information in accordance with this Policy. Unless otherwise defined in this Policy, the terms used in this Policy have the same meaning as in our coredao.org/terms.

Information Collection

Types of Personal Information Collected

Depending on how you interact with the Services, we may collect the following information about or from you:

- Personal information and contact information, such as your name, e-mail address, and any other information you submit when you contact us.

Sources of Personal Information

We collect personal information from various sources including data directly from you, from third parties, from public sources, and from automated systems.

Use of Personal Information

We, and our authorised third parties, will only process your personal information where we have the legal grounds to do so. We use the personal information that we collect for various purposes, including:

- To provide and maintain our Service. Our lawful basis is to fulfil any contractual terms with you.
- To notify you about changes to our Service. Our lawful basis is to fulfil any contractual terms with you.
- To allow you to participate in interactive features of our Service when you choose to do so. Our lawful basis is our legitimate interests and contract of providing the Services to you.
- To provide customer support. Our lawful basis is our legitimate interests as a business in responding to and keeping a record of correspondence.
- To gather analysis or valuable information so that we can improve our Service. Our lawful basis is our legitimate business interests in understanding and improving our services.
- To monitor the usage of our Service. Our lawful basis is our legitimate business interests in understanding and improving our services.
- To detect, prevent and address technical issues. Our lawful basis is to fulfil any contractual terms with you by providing technical support and our legitimate business interests in protecting our Services.

Under European Union and/or United Kingdom regulations, where we have indicated above that we rely on legitimate interests for processing of personal information, we carry out a 'balancing' test to ensure that our processing is necessary and that your fundamental rights of privacy are not outweighed by our legitimate interests, before we go ahead with such processing. You can contact us for more details using the details below.

Transfer of Personal Information Overseas

We are a global company and will collect and process your personal information around the globe. Your information, including personal information, may be transferred to - and maintained on - computers located outside of your state, province, country or other governmental jurisdiction from where it was collected and the applicable data protection laws may differ from those of your jurisdiction.

Disclosure of Personal Information

Personal information may be shared in the following circumstances:

Service providers

We may disclose personal information to third-party service providers or contractors who use this information to perform services for us, such as hosting providers, auditors, advisors, consultants, customer service and/or support providers and other similar service providers.

Legal Requirements

We may share personal information with companies or other entities that we plan to merge with or be acquired by.
